I understand that meals are prepared by the host facility, and the CAMP HOSTS are not responsible for its quality or safety. I will only use potable water from known sources; or will be responsible for disinfecting or treating any water obtained from other sources (for example, from streams along the trail), and the CAMP HOSTS are in no way responsible for the quality or safety of any water I consume.

This list is not an exclusive or exhaustive list of possible risks that I may encounter during the camp. These risks increase and are more likely if I use drugs or alcohol or am not physically able to undertake the activities included in the camp.
